To destroy Worms in Fruit Trees bore to the centre of every tree: then bout ten acres of good tillable land :by means of a paper tube, fill the hole with sulphur, crowding it in with a small ramrod; then cut out a green limb from the same tree, and plug the hole. It will not require more than two spoonsfull of sulphur for each tree, and in 48 hours the worms will leave the remotest branches. This process will also be beneficial for young fruit trees, even when not troubled with worms; it renders them more inrifty. This process has been found infallible.

WASHINGTON WHIG.

CONMUNICATION.

Mr. CLARKE,

ed by George Bush, complaining of ing called, reported that on their arcertain official acts of mine which rival at the entrance of the field, they took place at the muster of the 2d were surrounded by some of the regiment of the Cumberland brigade, members of the afore mentioned on the 15th instant at Bridgeton, I think proper to request you to do me prosecutions, and personal violence, the justice to publish this reply in order to prevent any erroneous impressions that might be made by the false and exaggerated statements therein

That there has for some time past existed a mutiny in the fourth company of the battalion which it is my anhappy lot to command, is well his threats of prosecution, conscious shown. The company having so far of having done my duty, I have nosucceeded as to prevent the election of any officer in the company, and are endeavoring to prevent the exe-cution of the militia law altogether Whether the militia law is a good one or not, I am bound as a citizen and soldier to obey it, and as an officer to execute it. It is not for five or six, or twenty men, to rise up and put down a law of the state, because it does not suit their views and interests. If the law is not a good one, there is a legal and constitutional way to obtain a repeal of it. In the discharge of my duty as an officer I have used my utmost endeavors to bring the company above mentioned to order by peaceable means, petther was it my wish to compel any one to take command of the company on that day; though I came prepared for it if I must. But on my appearing on the parade ground I found some of the conspirators there, exerting themselves to prevent the forming of the company and I was under the disagreeable neessity of clearing the parade of them in some way, and I knew no better than the legal one, as I had good reason to believe that they came there for the express purpose of making a disturbance. Who has violated the law-George Bush or myself, I will reave the candid reader to judge. If he will carefully examine the 27th and 39th sections of the law establishing a militia system passed February 18th, 1815, [see note.] and compare them with the facts which I will state to the best of my recollection. The facts are these-after the other companies had formed, knowing that I had some troublesome men to deal with, that would perhaps dispute the right of any other officer to command them, I attended on the spot where the other companies had formed. There I was met by George Bush, who asked me what I was going to do with their company. I told him that I intended to march them into the line, and expected there would be supernumery officers to take charge of them there. I immediately gave orders for the company to parade, and form in front of Mr Jarman's tavern, but no attention was paid to any of my orders. I then ordered them to march forward into line. This was likewise disregarded, except by two men. On turning round I saw and heard the country as it respected propriety and good breeding, and thereupon what was the occasion of it, three what was the occasion of it, three look George Bush left the table. Eighteen of the passimultaneously, and orto be one, were endeavoring in va- sengers rose simultaneously, and orrious ways to prevent the company dered another table to be spread which from parading. I therefore thought being done, Citizen G. was invited to it 'my duty to order those men to dine with them, and the Lieutenant take charge of and form the company, left at the first table alone! He, how-which I did in succession. They all ever, much to his credit, sent an anolrefused to obey me, or take the warrant that I presented them with, appointing them as sergeants to command the company; and before I answer would have done credit to could procure a guard to arrest them, Napoleon. It is sufficient to say that they " covered themselves with glo- he was treated with marked attention by running away; and George Bush in particular scampered as fast as he could. Having in this way eleared the parade ground of these three men, the part of the company present marched into line without any further difficulty. After the regiment had formed and was on the march to the field for exercise, I saw George Bush, who had returned, walking along side of the regiment. I immediately detailed two men as guards, and arrested him for disobedience of orders, near the gate of Mr

Note-SEC. 27. And be it enacted, That the Note—SEC. 27. Another enacted, I had the majors or commanding officers of battations shall be charged with organizing the several companies under their respective commands, so far as where militia-men of any company district neglect or refuse to choose their company officers the major as commandia. ny officers, the major or commanding officers, to which suchcompany belongs, hall under his hand and seal, appointed a sergeant within the said company district, whose duty it shall be to take command of the said company and conduct it agreeably to this act, until proper officers a e duly elected and qualified, &c.

Timothy Elmer, and not near the he was going directly the other way; neither was he marched behind me, for he passed on before me, and I Having seen in your paper of saw no more of him till near sunset the 19th inst. a communication sign-at Mr Buck's hotel. The guards becompany who threatened them with and by much seemingly wise cousel prevailed on the guards who were young men and ignorant of their duty to let him go. Had it not been for this circumstance the affair would have been investigated to George Bush's content, before this time, by the proper authority. As respects thing to fear. George Bush may think himself very fortunate if he es capes the punishment he so richly deserves for his conduct, not only on this, but on former occasions, in endeavoring by falsehoods to prevent me from obtaining the muster roll of the company. George Bush was late captain of that company, and appe urs to be as stout and able bodied a man as any in it. Why he thinks himself not liable to do military duty I know not, unless he intends to perform his duty to his country as he has to his honest creditors, by taking the benefit of the insolvent acts.

ISAAC WHITACRE. Deerfield Street, June 21, 1824.

From the Philadelphia Gazette

When our private citizens visit Hayti, they are treated with every mark of respect: but a public agent of the Haytien Government, who has visited our country for the benevolent purpose of facilitating the emigration of those colored persons, who are disposed to remove, has received a public insult. The agent in question is Citizen Grandveille, who, during the short time he sojourned in Philadelphia, gained the esteem of our citizens, by his correct conduct and gentlemanly deportment. He is an intelligent man, and the only thing that the most fastidious can object to in him, is his complexion, which is that of a dark mustee. On his passage from this place to New-York, he met with most ungentlemanly treatment from a lieutenant of the navy, and behaved on the occasion in a manner which does him honour. We have received a verbal account of the affair but prefer giving the statement of the editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser, who has enjoyed better opportunities for ascertaining particu-

ars. It is as follows:-"Being seated at table, Citizen Grandveille was rudely spoken to by a Lieutenant from the south, but took no notice of him until he was addressed in a more public and insulting manner. Upon this he immediately rose and observed, that, "When in his own country, it was his province to take into custody those Haytiens who insulted strangers. "He then in a very handsome manner apologized to the company by remarking, that he regretted having broken the rules of the country as it respected propriety ogy to Mr. G., to which the latter replied.-"I write INSULTS on the sand: FAVORS, on marble." This answer would have done credit to during the remainder of the day." This is highly creditable to both the passengers and the Haytien Agent and it may be presumed that the latter will not receive another such insult while he remains in the country. If a sense of propriety will not restrain some men from rudeness to this stranger, let a sense of interest become an auxiliary to good manners. Our trade to Hayti, as we have seen it stated, employs nearly as much tonnage as that with Great Britain; it is very beneficial to the United States, and, if a proper policy be preserved, it may be greatly increased, if not doubled.

Distressing casualty-A number of men, (between 40 and 50,) were lately raising the frame of a new church at Winthrop, Me. They were standing on that part where the rafters had not been raised, and their weight rested on a single beam, at the height of about 20 feet from the ground floor, and which had nothing but a slender prop to support it. As they were attempting to raise a piece of rafter, this spar gave way—the beam on which they stood broke, and they were precipitated in a mass to the bottom. The whole number who fell was 37, of whom 26 were seriously wounded-one or two literally crushed to pieces! and 5 or 6 not expected to recover. Several caught by timbers and saved them-

Horrors of Conscience.-In Scotland, a man lately acknowledged on his death bed, that he had murdered a woman in England, whom, after robbing of her harvest fee, he threw into a pit; and that he had killed a man in the neighbourhood of Markinch, and thrown his body into the water. The body of the man said to have been murdered, was actually found a number of years since. When nis end drew near, he was so horrified by the consciousness of his guilt, that he told the neighbours who came in, that the apparitions of the two persons whose lives he had taken, were waiting for him at the foot of his bed.

Mr. John Quincy Adams' Opinion on the Tariff. - In introducing the following paragraph from the Troy Sentinel of the 11th inst. the editors of the Statesman very justly compliment Gen. Jackson and Mr. Clay, in stating that the sentiments of these gentlemen on this subject, are well known to have been uniform, consistent and frequently expressed.

"We assert, upon good authority that Mr. Adams is, and all along has been, a friend to this same policy, He has had, moreover the frankness and independance to avow his sentiments, when called upon. Mr. Adams was applied to in a formal way, by some persons of South Carolina, for his opinion concerning the policy of the new tariff; and he unequivocally declared himself to be in favor of a dicreet revision of the tariff, not merey for the purposes of revenue, but with a direct design to encourage the manufactures of the country. He has expressed the same sentiment on other occasions."

Geneva, April 24.—A little piece of news was published here a few days ago of a very piquant nature, the details of all the horrors lately committed in a village of the canton of Zurich, by a troop of fanatics. It describes a sad state of libertinism & ferosity. A young woman, who had lived for some time a very irregular life, persuaded herself, all at once, that God demanded her life, to obain at the price of her blood the salvation of sinners. She succeeded in making her family adopt this idea. One of her sisters under her tuition devoted herself also to death. They armed the hands of their parents and friends, and expired slowly under their blows. According to their express commands they were fixed to crucifixes, and their executioners waited patiently for three days in ex pectation of their resurrection, agreeable to the assurances of the young prophetess. FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FROM IRELAND.—By the ship Gem-from Londonderry, we have received files of the Dublin Evening Post and Belfast News Letter to the 7th May. The contents relate chiefly to numberless outrages committed in different parts of Ireland, during which the insurgents, who wore masks, and were armed, not only robbed several houses, but mal treated the peaceable inhabitants. In one night, sixteen houses were attacked and rob bed by an armed banditti, in the county of Kilkenny. Where resistance was offered, the robbers used their bayonets, and several had fallen victims to these attacks. They even carried their diabolical system so far as to stab cows and pigs, and cut the throats of horses belonged to those marked out for revenge.—The perpetrators of these crimes assumed to themselves the right of retaliating, for murders said to have been committed by the officers of police, which had been sufficiently punished by the established authorities.

ALGIERS.

Extract of a letter, dated Algiers, 21st March, 1824, from Wm Shaler, Esq. to his friend in Massachusetts.

"This port is now locked by a Vice Admiral, with a variable number of ships, and from the temper of the parties, I apprehend that the consequences will be very serious.—
On the Departure of the British Consul, I spread my flag over all the interests, politi-cal as well as personal, that he was compell-ed to leave behind, and they have been thus efficiently protected from injury and insult and these interests comprehend the representation of Austria, Naples, Tuscany and sentation of Austria, Naples, Tuscany and Chattles to a vast amount. These facts have only tended to develope the strength of my credit here, which I was before ignorant of myself, and not to impair it, in the slightest degree. I have been off once to visit the admiral at the request of this government, but we think he is fairly intitled to remain on the degree. I have been off once to visit the admiral, at the request of this government, but to no effect.

The prospect at present here is, that there will be an affair more serious than that Lord Exmouth."

The Russians have entertained at Pekin since 1728, an Archimandrate and four Ecclesiastics, to whom have always been attached several young men, for the purpose of learning the Chinese language and investigating the history of this curious people. No good results had been obtained hitherto from this establishment, but latterly the Archimandrite Hyacinthus has returned from China, with part abundant faults of his studious latterly. with most abundant fruits of his studious labours. He has composed several works respecting China and its customs—among them, one in 9 vols. folio; being a general history of China from the year 2357, before Christ, to the year 1633 of the Christian era. Also, a description of the dykes and works erected to confine the waters of the Yellow River, together with an accurate account of the great canal of China. It is expected that the Rus-sian government will lend its aid to the publication of these works.

M. De Cosnac, Archbishop of Aix, was at a very advanced age when he learned that St. Francois de St. Francois de Sales had been canonized. "What!" cried he, "my old friend? I am delighted at his good fortune; he was a gallant man, an amnable man, and an honest man too, although he would sometimes cheat at piquet, at which we have often played together."—"But sir," said some one present, "is it possible that a Saint could be a sharper at play!" "No," replied the Archbishop, "he said, as a reason for it, that he gave all his winnings to the poor."

BRIDGETON,

SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1824.

NOTICE .- Those gentlemen of Bridgeon who are willing to assist either in vocal or instrumental music on the approaching an niversary of American Independence, (July 5th.) are particularly requested to meet at the Hotel of Jeremiah Buck, at half past 80'clock THIS EVENING.

Fire.-On the afternoon of Thursday last the Barn of Mr. Lewis Danzenbaker, of Hope. well township, was struck by lightning and consumed, together with its contents-a wind mill, farming utensils, &c. &c.

Extraordinary Calf!!-A cow belonging to gentleman in this town had a calf on Tues. day last, which weighed on the day of its birth one hondred and nine pounds!! The ow is from Kentucky-of what breed it is not ascertained, but a remarkable good onecan the United States beat this?

The British ministry, taking into consideration the state of Ireland, and the causes of the disturbances in that unhappy country, in the first instance issued an order to suppress the society of orange men so far as regarded their secret oaths and proceedings. This has begat considerable disturbance among them. The act declaring all secret oaths and societies illegal, having included freemasons, the Earl of Limerick presented a petition to the House of Lords, praying to have them exempt. The Earl of Liverpool, in a speech on this subject says-"no opportunity, no means, ought to be neglected of putting down all secret societies in Ireland. Government could not go too far in its exertions to attain this desirable object, and it was to be done without any exception whatever-they must all be put down, or peace and tranquility could not be preserved-any exception would become invidious and partial."

Cheap cheap .- The late Session of the legislature of the state of Rhode Island, has appropriated the sum of 400 dollars in full, to be allowed the Governor for his yearly salary, and 200 dollars to the Lieutenant Governor, for the same time. Now we are at a loss to know whether this cheap governing is more owing to a surplus of competent men who are capable of executing the trust,-who live in the confidence of the people, and who are willing to receive any thing, and employment, rather than be idle; or whether it is the people who appropriate, with such distinguished frugality and parsimony, such a pittancei as a compensation to their public officers, leaving it to the patriotism of their fellow citizens to find competent men to act, or taking the best men they can get for this sum, to rule them. We have been impressed with a belief that it is either actual need, or incompetence that induce men to work cheap-we mean cheaper than the standard worth of that service which should allow them to live by their employment. How it is in Rhode-Island we cannot say.

It is stated in the public prints that the Secretary of the Navy has stricken from the Navy list one of the post-captains. It has since been said that the officer whose name has been erased was capt. Angus. His offence half pay list.

COMMUNICATION.

The committee appointed at a public meeting of the citizens of this town, to make arrangements for the celebration of the approaching anniversary of our Independence, give notice, that the following arrangements have been made:-

The appearance of the day will be announced, by the discharge of cannon.

At sun rise a gun fired and flags hoisted. At half past nine o'clock, two guns will be discharged, and the bell rung, as a notice for the citizens to assemble at the Presbyterian Church.

The declaration of Independence will be ead by Dr. William S. Rowen, and an Oration delivered by Dr. Ephraim Buck, in the

At twelve o'clock a national salute will be fired, under the direction of Captain Bright, of the Art Hery.

At one o'clock, a dinner will be provided at the Hotel of Jeremiah Buck, where those gentlemen who wish to partake will assemble.

A Bower will be erected near the town, at which it is proposed the gentleman and ladies, should assemble at four o'clock, in the afternoon, to partake of refreshments to be Captain Brooke, in his recent travels to provided. Those gentlemen who are willing
