The Duel.

Cato—Hah! Coffee! how you do, Sah? You heard de nuse? de contess is ober, Cuff; de gran dule es fit, Cuff. Cuff—I didn't hear bout um. Sambo an Jim hab korril lass week; so dey fite I spose. Which of um got bruddy nose?

Cato—Cuff, you fool! no sush ting, Cuff. Tees de gran dule, I speaken bout. Missa Cummin an Missa Duffee, bote on un membs of congees, or tuddler on um was, I dont member which.

Cuff—Wot dey fite bout? Cato—I tell you, Cuff, nobody know dat. But ahtur dey gree to fite, den one ob un go to congees, an make gran speesh; an train he sef all de time tbo wid pissel, so he could pick out any hair in you heid wid a bullet, mile off.

Cuff—How dey fite? Bote on um keel, ded, I spose. Cato—No sush ting; dey pint a day, an pint a place, and dare wifs and shilluns, and grate meny frins go wid um; and den dey stan bak to bak, an Cuff—Fire ober dare hed, I spose.

Cato—Sah! you mussen intrup me when I speeken. You tirele out ob order, Cuff. So dey stan bak to bak, and den dey marsh off you see, and den— Cuff—How cood dey keel umselfs so?

Cato—Sah! you out ob order intrup me so. I call you to order, Cuff. Den massa Cummin he shoot massa Duffee in he back bone. Berry well, Sah! Den, massa Duffee pissel, sush debiish hurry go off, he go off he sef, & shoot de grown, ded. Dare, Sah? dont you tink dat was gran dule zebber you heard? Wot you tink dat, missa Cuff? Wy, wot you role up de wite ob your eye for? you make bleeve you ees tinkin, Cuff.

Cuff—I was tinkin dat, ahtur sush debbil ob noise bout de matter, an sush long time a bruin, an sush bruddy mind gemmen, dat wen dey did kom togedder, dey would blow one anudder heds off, I was tinkin dat dey would be like two mad bulls, or like dem two cats dat was tied by dare tails cross barber pole, an eet one nudder all up.

Cato—Wy Cuff, I pittee you. Tees pittes your mudder didn't gib you sum eddekashun. You know nollin bout de laus of onnur. No, Sah, wen dees two gemmen meet dey treat one anudder wid de gratis plitennis and purbanettee maggnubble. Dis was firely fair ob onnur, Cuff. Den dey mus fite kordin to de laus ob onnur.

Cuff—Den spose de gemman dat was sulted get a bullet in he bak bone; dat kure de matter? Now seems to me de gemman dat was sulted should keel de tuddler one; and not bote ob um keel one anudder at de same time.

Cato—You fool, Cuff! Dat is not de laus ob onnur. Now, Sah, I will beat dis matter in your tick kull. Spose one gemman sult nudder gemman, or one gemman choose tink he is sulted, which ees jess de same ting. Den dey out wid dare sekuns, an two dockers, an fire jess at de same time, as near as ebber dey can.

Cuff—Berry well, Sah; now spose de gemman dat was sulted, be keel. Wot de laus of onnur, say den? Cato—Dey say, he nebbber was sulted fall.

Cuff—Berry well, spose tuddler gemman is keel; wot de laus say den? Cato—Jess de same.

Cuff—Spose bote ob um keel, wot den? Cato—Jess de same. Eef two gemmen go to fite, tees no matter, whedder dis one or nudder ob um be in de rong. All dey got to do tes to draw some brud out one or nudder ob um; de hole matter ees settle, and dey ees frins gen.

Cuff—Spose one gemman cheat nudder gemman, or run way wid his wife, and dey fite? Cato—If on, on um, no matter which, nudder ob de shin, or onny nudder mautel part, and keel um; or bote on um be keel, dat probe to all de wot dat dare was no cheat; or in de sposed case, dat prob dat de gemmen's wife nebbber was run way wid.

Cuff—Dese laus ob onnur can do great deal. I spose gemmen must be memb ob congees—or he hab no right to de benfit of dis laus; and dat must be de reason wy dey call dees membs honbul gemmen.

Cato—You dreful fool, Cuff; I brush for you, Cuff; dees laus ob onnur ply to ebry body dat will fite kordin to um. A gemman may be damus rascal in de wot; do ebry ting he mine too, to nudder gemman; den eef he vill go out, and kill dat gemman, or be kill he sef, or draw brud, den he may hole up he head high as kunstbul pole—an ebry body make bow to um.

Cuff—You hab call me fool sebral time in dis convesashun. Eef you do dat green I speet in you face.

Cato—I weesh you would, Cuff, for den I shoold call you out to fite me kordin to de laus. Den all de newspaper would be full ob de matter, and gib zakt count of de hole faer. Now spose we was bote got bullets in our bak; den dey would say in de newspaper, "de contess ees ober!" de two staas ob Bossun ees set foreber. Nebber did two sush brave gemmen fall in de same time—nebbber did de cittee, societee, an de wot, suffer sush loss! Den dey would gib count ob our lass momens. Dey would say dat dese two brave gemmen, de mome deys was shot down, rush into heech udder's aams; an I, spekin to you, should say, "wy lord? Cuff; no dat too high for us; I should say, "honbul frin," no, we aint memos ob congees; I should say, "Brudder Cuff, you de lass man I wish to korril wid." You would say, "Brudder Cato, I nebbber had de lease ill will to you, I ollers lub you like my brudder." Den we should gib one nudder a gran hug, and fall back in our tendants arms and espire! Dat would be very fektin, indeed! Den we should bote sleep togedder in de bed ob onnur. Den de Ladies will make potree; an make possesshun wid one or nudder ob um, at dare hed; dress in wite robe, wid skaaf ober de sholer, an two wite rose (wid red hint pill on um; to show dat twas bruddy bizness) tikin in de wot, shining wid ma kassar ile; and dis one or nudder ob um will make speech run in like dis:

Sleep on! sleep on! tees onnur's bed, You bote was live and now you ded. We can hab it all rite aforehan.

Cuff—Tell you wot, Cato; I will hab no ban in dis bizness. You may go sleep in de bed of onnur, soon you can git enny body put you to bed. I will wine my own bizness, and sleep in my own bed; dats good nuff bed for Cuff.

Cornplanter's Speech.—By an act of the legislature, their honors, Jesse Moore and Joseph Hackney, were appointed commissioners to explain the law exonerating Cornplanter from certain taxes. After the explanation, the following speech was delivered by Cornplanter, at the court house, at Warren, on the 4th day of June, 1822:

"Yesterday was appointed for us all to meet here. The writings which the governor sent here pleased us very much. I think that the Great Spirit is very much pleased that the white people have been induced to assist the Indians as they have done, and that he is pleased also to see the great men of this state, and of the United States, so friendly to us. We are much pleased with what has been done.

"The Great Spirit first made the world, and next the flying animals, and found all things good and prosperous. He is immortal and everlasting. After finishing the flying animals, he came down on earth and there stood. Then he made different kinds of trees, and weeds of all sorts, and people of every kind. He made the Spring and other seasons, and the weather suitable for planting. These he did make; but still to make whiskey to be given to Indians he did not make. The Great Spirit bids me tell the white people not to give the Indians this kind of liquor. When the Great Spirit had made the earth and its animals, he went into the great lake, where he breathed as easily as any where else, and there made the different kinds of fish. The Great Spirit looked back on all that he had made. The different kinds he made to be separate, and not to mix with and disturb each other; but the white people have broken his commands, by mixing their color with the Indians; the Indians have done better by not doing so. The Great Spirit wishes that wars and fighting should cease.

"He next told us that there were three things for people to attend to. First, we ought to take care of our wives and children—Secondly, the white people ought to attend to their farms and cattle—Thirdly, the Great Spirit has given the bears and deer to the Indians. He is the cause of all things that exist, and it is very wicked to go against his will. The Great Spirit wishes me to inform the people that they should quit drinking intoxicating drink as being the cause of disease and death. He told us not to sell any more of our lands, for he never sold lands to any one. Some of us now keep the seventh day; but I wish to quit it, for the Great Spirit made it for others, and not for the Indians, who ought every day to attend to their business. He has ordered me to quit drinking any intoxicating drink, and not to lust after women but my own, and informed me that by doing so I should live the longer. He made known to me that it is very wicked to tell lies. Let no one suppose this I have said now is not true.

"I have now to thank the governor for what he has done, and have informed him what the Great Spirit has ordered me to cease from, and I wish the governor to inform others of what I have communicated. This is all I have at present to say.

Domestic Manufacture.—An experiment has been made in England, to ascertain whether the manufacture of spider webs should be encouraged by the government. But there are several objections, which seem to show that this branch of domestic industry can never be cultivated with flattering prospects of success. It would require five thousand insects to make spider silk sufficient to form a single pair of stockings. These insects are further more so ravenous, that they devour one another without any sort of hesitation. It has been proved by experiment, that the spider silk is so exceedingly fine, that five threads are required to form one of the strength of the silk worms. A gentleman in England presented to a society formed for the encouragement of domestic manufactures, a pair of gloves and stockings, both from the spider web, possessing all the gloss and beauty of real silk.

WHEELING, (Va.) Aug. 17.

On Monday last, a commission merchant in this place delivered a trunk to a wagoner, to take it to Baltimore, with particular injunctions to be careful of it as it was of great value. The next morning the wagoner was not a little alarmed to find that it was missing, but was soon relieved from his disagreeable feelings by discovering it at no great distance. The probability is, that some thief had carried it off, imagining he had a very great prize. At a convenient place he carefully opened the trunk, by taking off the hinges, and emptied it of its contents, when instead of finding something to gratify his avarice, he beheld a human form!

"What may this mean, That thou, dead corpse, again in complete shape Revivst'st thus the glimpses of the moon, Making night hideous?"

It was the mummy of one of the female aborigines of this country, that had remained for ages in a cavern in Kentucky, and was on her way to the eastward to be exhibited for the gratification of the curious.

Character of the Karpians (Arabs.)

They are such consummate thieves and rogues; that according to an ancient tradition still current among them, they once tricked the devil himself. The story is as follows:—The devil had acquired a right to their fields on which they agreed with him, that when their crops were ripe, they should retain the upper part and the devil should have the lower; they sowed all their lands with wheat and the devil of course had nothing but the straw for his share. Next year the old gentleman, fully determined not to be again so bamboozled, stipulated that the upper part should belong to him and the lower to the Karpians; but then they sowed all their grounds with beet, turnips, and other esculent roots, and so the devil got nothing but the green tops for his portion.

Inland Navigation—Holland.

Above 30,000 men are now employed upon the Grand Canal from the Texel, through North Holland to Amsterdam. The marshy soil under the water is removed, by means of nets, and above 1,000 small vessels are daily employed in carrying it away. The depth of the canal is fixed at 25 feet, and the largest East and West Indianman may be able to reach Amsterdam without unloading any part of their cargo in the Texel. The canal will be above ten German (five English) miles in length, and including the great sluices, will probably cost nearly one hundred millions of Dutch florins.

AGRICULTURAL.

The following observations of a Vermont Farmer, show that we should consult our real interest, as well as the finer feelings of our nature, by defending the innocent robin from the attacks of both boys and men. There are also other kinds of birds who prey on the insects which devour our crops, and whose industry would amply reward us for protecting them.

Farmers' Journal.

"I know of no method whatever to extirpate this larger species, which human ingenuity can devise. But Providence seems to have provided an antidote to this evil, in the rubeaula, or common Robin. This innocent and useful bird preys with peculiar avidity upon this species of worm. This fact may be ascertained by visiting a nest of young robins in the vicinity of a corn field, when it will be perceived that they are fed lavishly upon this kind of worm. At other times this bird feeds upon different species of worms and bugs, which are found upon the surface of the ground, which services are of immense value and benefit to the farmer, and ought to recommend it to his peculiar care and patronage. But its innocence and utility are inadequate to protect it from the wanton cruelty of boys and sportsmen. What immense numbers of these our benefactors are annually destroyed through mere wantonness and cruelty, while we are constantly hearing of the ravages of worms and bugs in the various departments of vegetation. Even whole corn-fields have been laid waste the present season by this larger species of worm, which calamity might have been obviated by having spared and fostered the robin. The utility, in fact, of this invaluable bird, is so obvious, that even legislative interference is imperiously demanded to rescue it from the bloody fangs of the Fowler. Other states have their protecting laws for the benefit of innocent and useful birds, and why should we be distanced in the sacred cause of humanity? The subject may appear trifling and novel at first, but a little reflection will convince any one that it is by no means unimportant."

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

From a report printed in May last, it appears that there were then in Great Britain, 5,015 schools, 36,927 teachers, and 517,583 pupils. It is believed that this report did not include more than half the Sunday Schools in the Island. The children of the Gypsies are now invited and instructed at those schools, and strong hopes are entertained that they will thus be brought to the knowledge of the Gospel.

The pretensions of Mrs. Olive Serres who claims to be the daughter of the late Duke of Cumberland, brother of George III. appear by the late English papers to be much better founded than had generally been supposed. Dr. Lushington seems to have established for her, in the Prerogative Court in London, the genuineness of George the third's signature, to an attestation of her being really the legitimate daughter of the Duke. Well supported evidence of his marriage with her mother was also adduced. She claims, by Dr. Lushington, a legacy of 15,000l. sterling, bequeathed to her by George III. The fate of this lady, should she ultimately gain her point, will be remarkable. She has been treated as an impostor, or a maniac, in nearly all the British prints; confined in prison for debt, &c.

National Gazette.

Something Marvellous.—On draining off the water in the summit level of the canal this week, for the purpose of removing the earth which had been deposited in it by the late freshet, large quantities of clams were discovered in the bottom of it, the shells of some of which measured 7 inches in length, & were well proportioned. Persons who have partook of these aquatic sojourners of our place, represent them to be of "most delicious flavour."—The shells are of a greenish cast, and almost as transparent as glass.

Sandy Hill Times.

The Rev. Mr. Raibbone, of Ballston Spa, being about to retire from his parochial duties, preached his last sermon on the 14th of July last, the day on which he was 93 years of age, from 2d. Corinthians, 3d chap. and 19th verse; and on his birth day 70 years before; he preached his first sermon from the same text.

Duelling.—The Natchez Gazette gives the following calculation of a certain infamous gambler, who frequently was kicked and cuffed and pulled by the nose, and yet had fought a duel—

"If I am challenged,
10 to 1 We do not meet—if we meet,
10 to 1 No fight—if a fight,
10 to 1 I am missed—if hit,
10 to 1 I am not killed—40 to 1.
What sportsman would refuse such odds?"

Yankee Story.—We have seen a twig broken from a pear tree this season, scarcely two feet long, which when taken off, we are told contained upwards of eighty pears. It now has upwards of 60 hanging in clusters like grapes, and of a size as large as hen's eggs. It came from the town of Essex, in this county.

Legislative Blunders.—In the new Marriage Act, which has undergone such lengthened and anxious discussions in both Houses, there are the following passages—"And in such case, both parties shall also make oath, that the person or persons whose consent shall be required by law to the marriage of such parties has been given;"—i. e. that the person or persons has been given!—The framer, of course, means the consent of such person or persons, but he gets it enacted that "the person or persons" shall be given!—But there is another enactment truly marvellous: "And be it further enacted," says the amended Bill, "That such banns shall not be published until the true christian and surnames of the said persons, and the house or houses of their respective abodes, shall be affixed on the principal door of the church or chapel! and in some conspicuous place within the said church or chapel! Parliament is omnipotent, truly, but how a house could be stuck on a church door is a problem that remains to be solved.—The difficulty, we apprehend, is increased, when two houses are to be stuck on the said door! But we must say, with reverence, that their Lordships intend to carry their omnipotence to the highest pitch, when they enact that the same house or houses must be stuck on the church door, and also placed in some conspicuous place within the said church.

REPARTEE.

M. Lalande dined one day at the house of Recamier the Banker, and was seated between the celebrated beauty, Madam Recamier, and Madam de Stael, equally distinguished for her wit. Wishing to say something to please the ladies, the astronomer exclaimed—"How happy I am to be thus placed between wit and beauty!"—"Yes, M. Lalande," sarcastically replied Madam de Stael, "and without possessing either."

Two candidates by the name of Adam and Low, preached prolation sermons for a leadership, which was in the gift of the congregation. Mr. Low preached in the morning, taking for his text, "Adam, where art thou?" and made a very excellent sermon, with which the congregation appeared much edified. Mr. Adam, who was present, preached in the evening, taking for his text the passage immediately following that of his rival, "Lo, here am I!"—This imprudent, and his sermon, gained Mr. A. the lectureship.

Wit.—Charles V. who had so long distinguished himself as a persecutor of all who differed from the orthodox faith appears in his retirement, to have come to his senses on the subject of intolerance. He had thirty watches on his table, and observing no two of them marked the same time, he exclaimed, "How could I imagine that in matters of religion I could make all men alike." A servant carefully entered his cell, threw down all the watches. The Emperor laughed, and said, "You are more lucky than I, for you have found the way to make them all go together."

THE WHIG.

BRIDGETON,

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1822.

JAMES D. WESTCOTT, junior, of this place, A. L. EAKIN, of Salem county, and WEST DELLYNE, of Burlington county, were on Thursday last, admitted to the practice of law, as Attorneys, by the Supreme Court of this State, now sitting at Trenton.

FEVER IN NEW YORK.

A writer in the New York Statesman presents a very gloomy picture of New York. He says "You see the wharves from about Fulton Street, on the North River, to the Battery, entirely stripped of their shipping, no boats plying along the solitary shore, the stores and houses fronting the river all closed, and the dead silence which reigns thro' this region, unbroken by the hum of industry, or the cheerful bustle of business." "From the Battery up the East River, to Fulton street, some gleams of population yet remain. The estimate of population south of Fulton street, which, it will be recollected, extends from river to river, is short of 3000. The ordinary population is probably not short of 30,000, making the number of emigrants about 27,000." "The sound of the church-going bell" is unheard from Trinity, St. Paul's, and the other churches in the district; and the voice of pleasure, as well as the din of business, is mute. "Instead of gilded carriages, filled with ladies and gentlemen riding out for pleasure, you see the street full of carts loaded with articles of merchandise, and the side walks crowded with men of business."

Many robberies have been committed within the prohibited district, some of them in mid-day. Not satisfied with carrying off plunder, they leave marks of devastation behind them. The officers say they never witnessed a more wanton destruction of property—the floors almost covered with broken articles, and many of them of considerable value. Some of the villains have been arrested in the very act. A resolution passed the Board of Health, authorizing the Committee to establish a "water watch" for the effectual protection of the property in the lower part of the city. For the week ending on Monday the 2d inst. 34 new cases of fever were reported.

U. S. Sloop of War Hornet.

Upon breaking up the hold of this vessel, while laying at the Norfolk Navy Yard, a pestilential air issued from it, in consequence of which 14 of her hands fell suddenly ill of malignant fever. Two officers, Zantlinger and Newton, were also taken ill; both of whom have since died, as also have four of the men. The disease, however, seems to have spread no further, as no new cases have occurred.

Louisville, (Ky.)—A fever of a highly malignant character has broken out in Louisville, and has thrown the inhabitants into a state of considerable alarm. From the 5th to the 12th ult. 20 deaths occurred, of which 14 were by the fever. Some of these, it is supposed, died for the want of timely aid. The disease is confined principally to the watermen.

The corner stone of a building intended as an Asylum for Lunatics, has recently been laid at Columbia, South Carolina.

Dr. Ashbel Green, President of the College at Princeton, has given to the public a volume, entitled "Discourses delivered at the College of New Jersey, addressed chiefly to Candidates for the First Degree in the Arts; with Notes and Illustrations, including a historical sketch of the College from its origin to the accession of President Witherspoon; with biographical notes of Presidents Dickinson, Barr, Edwards, Davis, and Finley."

The character and abilities of Dr. Green are too well established to stand in need of any commendation from us. Amiable as a man and as a christian; well skilled in the business of his vocation, and zealous in the discharge of his duties; profound in the knowledge of divine things, and enlightened by the experience of many years, the public expectation may be justly raised in regard to the merits of the work which he has now given to the world.

We are at present in the perusal of this work, and confess that it yields us both profit and pleasure. The subjects are well chosen, and skillfully discussed; the diction is chaste, the style clear and elegant, the eloquence manly and commanding, and the spirit, which pervades the whole, that of earnest zeal, rightly tempered with that charity and wisdom which ought ever to be inseparable, and the necessity of whose connexion he, himself, in one of the discourses, so cogently enforces upon his hearers.

Though this volume is intended for the instruction of youth particularly, and is of peculiar value to those who are just entering upon the career of life, yet its application is by no means limited to them. The head that is drooping under a weight of years, and is already bowing towards its kindred dust, may here read and learn; it will find some truths of sufficient force to strengthen it under its infirmities—to turn its fading eye from the delusions of the world, and relume it with the everdaring light of heaven. By a proper attention to the instructions which these discourses breathe, youth will be enabled to escape the many snares which beset the path of life, and to adopt that course of conduct which will give their characters a permanent foundation in the esteem of their friends and of society.

The notes appended to this volume contain much interesting matter. They embody a historical sketch of the College and of its Presidents, as stated above, together with a short, though interesting biographical sketch of Governor Blicher, its founder. To all who are interested in the establishment and prosperity of Colleges—and to all who feel an interest in the spread of vital piety, or in the welfare of youth, we heartily recommend this volume.

COMMUNICATION.

DIED, in this town, on Monday the 2d of September, inst. Mr. JOSTIAH PARVIN, aged 55 years, 7 months, and 20 days. His personal merit was fully attested by the numbers who attended his remains to the grave. During his illness he possessed a Christian resignation, a mind free from corroding fears, and, having retained his senses to the last, he left the world in a full assurance of a happy immortality.

During a violent thunder storm on the 3d Aug. at St. Louis, (Missouri) a boat was upset, and 5 children drowned. The Missouri Hotel was injured by the electric fluid, and several persons within the building knocked down but none of them materially injured.

The Great Dam completed.—The Sandy Hill Times of the 30th ult. informs us that the Great Dam across the Hudson river, at Fort Edward, was completed the Monday preceding, and filled with water. This dam has been constructed to supply the Northern Canal with water, & there is no doubt but it will answer the purpose. It is thirty-three feet high, and more than nine hundred feet long. It is truly a stupendous monument of the ingenuity of man, and no doubt will attract many travellers to view the mighty waters of the Hudson stayed in their course and rolled backwards to the fountains which sent them forth.

Water Spouts.—Four beautiful water spouts were seen on the 21st ult. by the inhabitants of Cleaveland village, in Ohio, apparently about 10 miles distant. A cloud hung over the lake at the time, which being pretty high, and the spouts black and perpendicular, they resembled huge pillars of some mighty fabric, and occasionally changing their position, presented a grand and beautiful aspect. They continued visible for some length of time, and their disappearance was followed by the fall of rain in torrents on the Lake, and a slight shower extending itself to the village.

FOREIGN.

From the London Morning Chronicle, of July 23.

[Extract of a private letter.]

SMYRNA, May 29.

"There are no longer committed at Scio any but partial assassinations. Amongst the number of private circumstances, the following is guaranteed by several eye witnesses:

"A young Greek female, sixteen or seventeen years of age, of great beauty, was carried off by an Arab, who sold her to a Turk for 300 piastres. Shortly afterwards he offered 3,000 piastres to her new master, for the repurchase of this beautiful Chiot. The Turk, who already felt a sentiment of love, refused the money.

"The Arab proceeded to the market, met the Turk, and wanted to compel him to restore the slave on receiving 300 piastres; the original price.—The Turk opposed this, and high words arose; the Arab, at length, in a transport of anger, said "you shall not have her," and, taking out his pistol, lodged the contents in her bosom; she fell and expired. The Turk embraced the inanimate body, and mingled his tears with its blood. Recovering himself, he presented himself before the Captain Pacha and demanded justice. "You shall have it," said the Grand Admiral. "Do you know the murderer?"—"Yes"—"Let all the Arabs be arrested and brought before me."

"The order was executed, and the Turk pointed out the guilty individual. "Draw thy sabre and cut off his head." The Turk declined the office, which was then performed by the executioner."

LONDON, July 25.

The subscriptions at the London Tavern for the relief of the poor in Ireland, had reached the sum of near three hundred thousand pounds sterling.

Two hundred thousand pounds sterling were voted in the House of Commons on the 23d of July, for the relief of the distressed in Ireland.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.

FROM LA GUAYRA.

By the arrival of the schr. Cherub at this port on Saturday evening, the editor of the American has received from his attentive correspondent at La Guayra, regular files of the Iris de Venezuela to the 1st ult. and a letter confirming the intelligence previously received of the entrance of Gen. Morales into Puerto Cavello, "where (the writer adds) the pestilence rages in an unusual degree, and were probably himself and naked followers will end their days."

Our correspondent, in his letter of the 4th ult. further observes, "We are here (at La Guayra) in perfect security; and you may rest assured that no danger whatever is to be apprehended by vessels coming from the United States to this port—save from the Spanish privateers in the Muna passage, near Puerto Rico, which can be easily avoided by keeping well to the windward."

FROM RIO.

Capt. Davis informs, that about the 1st of June, a rencontre took place at St. Salvador between the inhabitants and European troops, the Brazilians insisting on a government of their own choice. In the contest, 300 of the latter were killed, principally citizens. Prince Dan Pedro had sent 10,000 stand of arms, 100 officers, 3000 men, a frigate, and three corvettes from Rio, which force sailed on the 13th of July. N. Y. Gazette.

The arrival of the schr. Comet at Charleston, in 4 days from Havana, brings accounts from Vera Cruz to the 31st July, furnishing the details of the coronation of Iturbide, the Patriot Emperor of Mexico, and some of his first imperial proceedings, among which are as a matter of course the creation of an order of knighthood, the establishment of a household, &c. &c. Among the members of the latter we perceive a grand chaplain and assistant, three confessors, one for the Emperor, one for the Empress, and one for the Prince Imperial, six chaplains, and ten ordinary chaplains for their majesties, four preachers, four honorary ones, besides a private chaplain for the family—a very competent provision for the spiritual welfare of the imperial dynasty, which we much suspect has been consulted at the expense of its temporal good. The new order of things does not promise to be of great durability.—The imperial farce even in its first act proclaims its own catastrophe, and we shall ere long have to drop the curtain on the mock representation of empire.

The Cortes of Mexico have ordered an alteration of the money of the country. Silver coins are to be stamped on the one side with the bust of the Emperor, with the legend Augustinus Dei Providentia—on the reverse the national arms, an eagle crowned, preparing to fly, with the legend Mexicoprimus Imperator Constitutionis. Gold coins are to bear the same stamps with the addition of some warlike trophies—both coins to have their value impressed upon them. Amer. Sent.

Armenian Reptile.—The morm resembles the scorpion in shape, but has a soft hairy skin like a mouse, either reddish or black, or of some other color. The morm springs from the ground right at a person's face. Its venom is mortal. Memoirs of Artemi.

Mandrake.—In the vicinity of Usehakan are found two remarkable roots. With one, called toron, is made a red color, which is used in Russia and the Russian name of which is morena; the other lashtak or madrakor (mandrakes) bear an exact resemblance to the human figure, and is used by us medicinally. It grows pretty large.—A dog is usually employed to draw it out of the ground; for which purpose the earth is first dug from about it; and a dog being fastened to it by a string, is made to pull till the whole of the root is extracted.—The reason of this is, according to the current report, that if a man were to pull up this root he would infallibly die, either on the spot, or in a very short time; and it is also said, that when it is drawn out, the moan of a human voice is always heard.

Concert of Animals.—The abbot of Baigue, a man of wit, and skilled in the construction of new musical instruments was ordered by Louis XI. King of France, more in jest than in earnest, to procure him a concert of swine's voices.—The abbot said that the thing could doubtless be done, but that it would take a good deal of money. The king ordered that he should have whatever he required for the purpose. The abbot, says Bayle, then "wrought a thing as singular as ever was seen.—For out of a great number of hogs of several ages which he got together, & placed under a tent, or pavilion, covered with velvet, before which he had a table of wood painted, with a certain number of keys, he made an organical instrument, and as he played upon the said keys with little spikes, which pricked the hogs, he made them cry in such order and consonance, he highly delighted the king and all his company."

Frager queerly lost.—In the year 1865, one Carr, a waterman, having laid a wager that he and his dog would both leap from the centre arch of Westminster bridge, and land at Lambeth within a minute of each other, he jumped off first, and the dog immediately followed, but not being in the secret, and fearing his master should be drowned, he laid hold of him by the neck and dragged him on shore, to the no small diversion of the spectators.

The Catcher Caught.—During a sudden inundation of the Rhine, a hare, unable to escape through the water to an eminence, climbed up a tree. One of the boatmen rowing about to assist the unfortunate inhabitants, observing puss, rowed up to the tree, and mounted it, eager for the game, without properly fastening his boat. The terrified hare, on the approach of its pursuer sprang from the branch into the boat, which thus set in motion, floated away, leaving its owner in the tree in dread of being washed away by the current. After several hours' anxiety, he was perceived and taken off by some of his companions.

CRACOW, May 7.

Animal Remains.—The mountain of Bromalawa which is remarkable as the site of the national monument to the memory of Kosciusko, is now becoming interesting to the naturalist.—

The workmen employed in raising the tumulus have lately found in the calcareous rock, ten-ells below the surface of the earth, an immense backbone of some animal nearly twelve ells in length. When this interesting remnant of the antediluvian world has been duly examined by competent judges, the result of their investigations shall be communicated to the public.

On the 14th of May, between six & seven in the evening, during a thunder shower, there fell at Leipzig such prodigious multitudes of insects that they covered whole streets. The wind was very strong from the east, from which quarter vast swarms of insects were seen to approach, which fell with the rain in countless heaps. They are dragon flies, and it is inexplicable whence they can have come in such swarms, as there are no marshes near Leipzig on the east side.

Ephraim Padgett, administrator of John Deford, deceased, & Sarah Dare, administratrix of Gabriel Dare, dec'd, having severally exhibited to this Court duly attested, an inventory of the personal estates of said decedents, and also an account of the debts and credits by which it appears that the personal estates of said decedents are insufficient to pay their just debts and expense, and setting forth that said decedents died several seized of real estate in the county of Cumberland aforesaid, and praying the aid of the Court in the premises—
It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements and real estates of said decedents, do appear before the Judges of this Court, on the first day of September Term next, and shew cause, if any they have, why so much of the real estates of said decedents, situate in the County of Cumberland aforesaid, should not be sold, as will be sufficient to satisfy the debts and expenses which remain unpaid.

PROPOSE TO PUBLISH, BY SUBSCRIPTION,
BROOKES'S
General Gazetteer Improved,
Or, a new and compendious
Geographical Dictionary;
Containing a description of the Empires, Kingdoms, states, provinces, cities, towns, forts, seas, harbors, rivers, lakes, mountains, capes, &c. in the
KNOWN WORLD:
With the government, customs, manners, and religion of the inhabitants; the extent, boundaries and natural productions of each country; the trade, manufactures and curiosities of the cities and towns; their longitude, latitude, bearings and distances, in English miles, from remarkable places; and the various events by which they have been distinguished:
INCLUDING
The Constitution of the United States, the ordinance of 1787, and the Constitutions of the respective States;
Together with a succinct account of at least fifteen hundred cities, towns and villages in America, more than have appeared in any foreign edition of the same work; in which the numerous mistakes & deficiencies of European Gazetteers, respecting this country, are corrected and supplied.
Illustrated by a neat colored Map of the United States.
ORIGINALLY WRITTEN
By R. Brookes, M. D.
The fourth American, from the London edition of 1819, with additions and improvements
BY WILLIAM DARBY,
Member of the New-York Historical Society, Author of a Map and Statistical Account of Louisiana; Emigrant's Guide; and a Tour from New-York to Detroit.
IN order to render this edition in a peculiar manner valuable to an American reader, the publishers have employed William Darby of this city as editor, to collect and insert the names of such remarkable places on this continent, adjacent islands and elsewhere, as have not hitherto found a place in any gazetteer extant; to remedy such articles as are erroneously or defectively stated, in the original work; and in fine, as far as practicable, to comprise all the places worthy of notice in the world.
So many changes have taken place in Europe in the course of the last 8 or 10 years, as to render necessary a careful digest of the present limits of most states in that quarter of the world.
It must be obvious that in an age of active enterprise, discoveries, improvements and changes in objects of Geographical Science will be so rapid, and unceasing in their operations, as in a few years, to render defective or obsolete any System of Geography; however perfect they may be at the time of publication. It must also be more than apparent that the correctness of these observations apply with particular force to America; in one section of which, a widely extended revolution is daily developing, as objects of Geographical and Historical record, names of places, very imperfectly or entirely unknown to science, previous to the occurrence of the events which have given them a title to literary attention: and in another quarter, the energies of a free and enterprising people are effecting revolutions on the face of nature, with a celerity and an extent which has no parallel in the progress of human affairs.
The publication of the work has hitherto been delayed in order to procure the census of 1820, which has not yet been completed. The publishers however confidently hope to receive the necessary document, and present the work to their patrons, in the course of the ensuing season, in a form worthy of their acceptance: but the Gazetteer will not be put to press before the returns of the census are obtained, collated, and the various articles digested according to its results.
The Post Office list will be carefully arranged up to the present time, and the mark P. O. placed before the description of all places containing a Post Office.
No comment can be necessary to elucidate the advantages which must be comprised in a portable volume, in which will be concentrated the proposed improvements and additions.
TERMS.
The work to be comprised in one octavo volume of about 900 pages, printed on good paper, and to be illustrated by a new and neat colored Map of the United States, projected and engraved for the express purpose, to contain the political subdivisions, made up to the period of publication.

THE subscriber has on hand, a large stock consisting of a very general assortment of good brushes, which he will sell on the most liberal terms.
BENJAMIN TAYLOR.
Save your bristles.—The value of horse bristles is not perhaps generally known, or there would be more attention paid to saving them.—A pound of clean white bristles is worth from 60 to 75 cts. and dark ones from 30 to 45 according to the length. A person may, when hogs are killed, by using a horn or iron comb, cleanse as many bristles as will enable them to save as many as will amount to a number of dollars.—White cow tails if not very curly, when washed clean and cut off from the dock, is worth 50 cts.—White horse hair 75 cts. per lb. an object this to farmer's boys.
The Carlisle Herald, Lancaster Journal, and Eastern Sentinel, will please to insert the above advertisement six times in their papers, and forward their bills to Mr. Taylor.
