The Richmond Enquirer gives several le ters from a young American naval officer, in the Mediterranean squadron, (a native of Richmond) from which we select the following interesting passages .- Bost. Gaz.

From Gibraltar, July 10.

a The view which presents itself from the barbour of Syracuse, has more of grandeur and sublimity than any to be possibly conceived.—The venerable heaps of heary ruin, or erlooked by the snowy crest of old Etna, reflecting the rising sun, form a collection of sublime and lovely objects, transcendantly wonderful, and calculated to inspire the dullest, most vapid mind, with sentiments of awe and reverance.-When I beheld this scene, I could scarce contain an exclamation of rapture and delight.—Surely a pious and exalted mind would have enjoyed the most envia-ble and holy pleasure in the contemplation of such objects. Added to all this, the scene is graced with tints of a softer, lovelier nature A rich and almost immeasurable meadow presents itself adorned with the finest cultivation, intersected by a stream on whose banks the finest cattle in the world are ever grazing. Indeed it is a fairy spot; but time, ambition and oppression have soiled it with the deepest tinge, and all those beauties are lavished on a race of corrupt and degraded wretches.

We sailed from Syracuse to Messina; of that place, and the view as you proceed up to Faro, I have spoken in a previous letter; so we will commence with Malta; of which you have so often read, celebrated as the long and well descended strong hold of the knights. It is now in the hands of different masters, who are as much for them, as you or I for Don Quixotte or his squire, The fairy islands of Calypso, now Cozo, is only five miles from Malta, though by no means corresponding with its former character of flowery banks, eternal springs,

La Valette, the capital of the island, and residence of the governor, is second in strength only to Gibraltar. I was but a few hours ashore, and had only an opportunity of visiting one or two curiosities. The church of St. John is celebrated as having ducted down a narrow regular descent sebeen one of the richest in Europe. It was built by the knights of Malta, and has the boiling spring.—From the moment I twelve separate chapels, vieing with each entered, I was in a profuse perspiration, the steam continued more oppressive, and allotted to the different nations to which some of their distinguished order belonged. All its ornaments such as statues, gratings, candle sticks, &c. were formerly of solid silver, but was rifled by the French, who carried off, according to the story of the Maltese, a frigate ballasted with its spoils. A gate and railing of silver still remain round one of the altars, which, with many other ornaments, were painted black, to deceive the plunderers, and thus preserved. However, every thing falls short of the tapestry work, of which the execution is so exquisite, that it requires the nicest obsertion to distinguish it from the most delicate touches of the pencil. It is all on crimson velvet, representing the birth and most remarkable scenes in the history of our Saviour down to his crucifixion. The floors are of the most curious and beautiful Mosaic, composed of the tombs of all the knights, whose remains are deposited, tinctly heard on the opposite side (60 feet) in which are inlaid a thousand singular beautiful devices. The parace is a handsome and extensive building; it has a library, and one of the best armories in Europe. These Litid not see; however, I have as good a right to mention things I never saw, as Sterne, who accupied five pages with the description of Callis, which he reached after dark, and left before day-

The ceptacle as fiddlers' green, allotted to suipalace was superbly decorated by Murat, lors. Thus have I, a second Æneas, visitand shows, among its finest ornaments, his ed both Hell and Elystam; and though I portrait, with that of Joseph Bonaparte, his wife and children, that of Napoleon and his mother, specimens of exquisite execution. The apartments are all superb; that of madam Murat particularly. The gardens are decorated with equal taste and magnificence. The museum of Naples produces some rare collections in painting and sculpture; the former are modern, and from the hands of the best masters in Europe; among them some productions of Raphael, M. Angelo, &c. The statues are mostly from Pompeia and Herculaneum a few from Rome. They are numerous, some equestrian, collossal; besides many

"The ruins of Baia require a longer description. We obtained permission to go in one of the ship's cutters, so we had nothing to hurry us. We got a guide from Puzzoli, and passed by Caligula's bridge 13 arches of which are still above water. It was intended to join Baia and Puzzoli, but it was never completed except by hoats and spars, which were soon washed away

"We passed in sight of Mount Barbara. where the Romans got their Falerman wine, of which we read so much, particularly in Horace. We landed where Fort Julia formerly stood, which was destroyed at the same time that Solfatara sunk, by the sudden appearance of Monte Nuevo which filled up its mote, of which some we mains are still seen. Here we saw the Locrian lake, where were preserved the fine oysters for the luxurious Romans. About a mile beyond this is lake Avernus. of which the ancients give such a horrid description. It is now a harmless lake, remarkable only for the ruins on its horders A temple of Apollo still remains on one side; its venerable ruins, moss grown, still defying time and weather. In the opposite shore to the temple is the grotto of Syrils, as remarkable as the story of its priestesses. We entered a cavity at the foct of a high hill, and descending gradual-ly about 40 yards, were conducted by our guides, each having a torch. down a gloomy narrow passage hearn in the rock. I assure you, had I been at all inclined to superstitious fears, this was as fair a subject to ox ercise them, as any you can well conceive. We soon arrived to water, when on the backs of our guides we were transported to the backs of the priestesses, the appearance of which was no more inviting than the other apartmets. We retired through another avenue equally difficult and disagreeable, leading through the hill. We were next arrested in our progress by Nero's baths. After ascending a high hill, and entering a cavity as before, we were conv. ral hundred feet till we were stopped by after reaching the bottom, as soon as the guide got a bucket of water, and threw the eggs we had provided in, I was glad to make my retreat; in 21 minutes, the eggs were boiled, and it is remarkable that how ever long they are kept in this boiling spring, they never become hard, always continuing in the most delightful consist-

We next visited the temples of Venus, Mercury and Diana. The wells are of brick, and yet stand! In that of Mercugy, there is a remarkable echo in one of the apartments, justly termed the whispering room; by placing the mouth close to the wall, the slightest whisper can be as disas if spoken in the loudest tone. The apartments adjacent to the temples are generally in a more perfect state. Hence we proceed to the tomb of Agrippa; it is but little injured, though not cleared of the rubbish; its interior has been elegant. We were thence conducted to Nero's prisona dismal horrid place, well adapted to the port of the select committee of the house commons, relating to the British forts a tile coast of Africa, afford a great mass Interesting information on the state of ade, policy, and national productions of at country. The principal witness exan d before the committee was Mr. Swanv. from whose evidence particularly we hive made extracts. Mr. Swanzey states, t at an individual may travel , between 2 and 300 miles into the interior from the Gold Coast in perfect safety: and is also clearly of opinion, that to reach the Niger, the point from which the exploring of the i iterior ef Africu should commence, is the gold coast. Merchants from Howsee, a irge town on the Niger; beyond where 11. Park explored, he says, were in the abit of coming down to the Gold Coast srith trade; the journey then occupied about three months. -- 'Slaves' he adds, have been brought down to the Gold Coast y Ashantee traders from a country called Doncos, before the abolition of the slave trade, who must have come at least 1000 miles from the interior, by the time it was said they occupied in their journey. These Ashantee traders represent their own country as exceedingly fine, containing large quantities of gold and elephants, cattle cf all sorts, common to other tropical climates, and their capital as a place of great

Henry Alfred Adamson, Esq. Governor f Dixcove Fort, on the Coast, of Africa, o a question put to him by tha Commissioners to investigate the state of the forts and settlements on that coast, answers-Death is seldom, if ever, inflicted on a person, if he have property sufficient to pay. Frequently cases of a very serious nature arise from very trivial causes. For example: if a person steals a fowl from an the boiling spring.—From the moment I ther, and it is discovered, he to whom the flow helonged, takes care to have two or three other persons as evidences: then it is left in oblivion for two or three years. When damages are brought, they calculate and the formation of a correct Map, together the number of young ones this fowl might have produced; and during the Slave Trade whole families have been sold to defray the expense. In such cases corporeal punishment is seldom inflicted, generally pecuniary fines! Accidental injuries are commonly settled by the person paying an equivalent for the injury received.

The Island of Goree, on the coast of Africa, is considered as situated in the territories of Damet King of Cayor, from whose ancestors the grant was originally obtained. From that period and until 20 years since, the Peninsula of Cape Verd was concluded in the dominions of that Prince, but in consequence of the heavy contributions levied on them, and differing in religious oninions from their fellow, subjects, the inhabitants of the Peninsula, headed by 'an able chief, threw off their allegiance and erected themselves into an independent Republic. They built a wall across that part which forms Cape Emanuel, to defend themselves against the King, and fenced it with superstition. Damel assembled a large army to attack them; but such was the supertitious terror of this sacred wall, and perhaps the more rational dread of complexion of his crisses. The reservoir of the brace and desperate men that were bethe house and desperate men that were beis turnelise and capacious supported by 42 ed in its vicinity several weeks, he never ventured a serious attack, and from famine and desertion amongst his ill-combined army, was obliged to return discomted.

Extracts of letters to the Editor.

Washington, December 14th, 1816 "Since my last, several bills of a public nature have been introduced, most of them relating to subjects which received more or less attention last session, but were not definitely acted upon; among the number are the following:

By Mr. Wright-" A bill to authorise the settlement and payment of certain claims for the services of the Militia."-This bill proposes to pay those militia that were called out by the state authority during the late war, without the previous authority of the general government.

By Mr. Johnson of Kentucky,

"A bill to establish three military aca deinies." These academies are contemplated in the bill to be located in this district, at Mount Dearborn in South Carolina, and at the confluence of Ohio and Licking rivers, in Kentucky.

By Mr. Condict-" A bill supplementary to the act heretofore passed for the encouragement of vaccination."-Proposing to give the vaccine agent an annual salary and making it his duty to distribute the infection free of expense to the applicant.

By Mr. Loundes-" A bill supplementary to the act regulating the duties on imports and tonnage."-This bill is of an explanatory nature, and defines more parti cularly the duties to be received on ton-

By Mr. Hopkinson-" A bill to establish an uniform system of bankruptcy." Mr. H. prefaced the introduction of the bill, by observing that the peculiar state the country at this time, and the mercan tile embarrassments which had grown out of recent events in Europe, &c. called more leadly than ever for the adoption o some uniform system of the kind, and he fully believed the one now offered more perfect than any that had heretofore been presented.

By Mr. Johnson of Kentucky,

"A bill granting donations in lands to disbanded officers of the late army." This bill is very nearly a copy of the one which was negatived last session.

These several bills have all taken one and the same course; that is, been twice read, referred to a committee of the whole bouse, ordered to be printed, and made the order for given days, the most remote of which is near at hand, so that it is probasie in the course of the ensuing week some of them at least will come under discussion. A mass of business in the shape of hals being now before congress, their daily signings from this time forward will no doubt The protracted; and it is not likely that much resure or relazation will be afforded the members during the remainder of the sessie which must of necessity terminate on

The last two or three days like several of the preceding, have also been fruitful of , Resolutions. These are articles of easy production; most of them no doubt are the gesult of reflection, and a conviction of their propriety on the part of the mover. Some, however, I have often thought, were introduced for popularity purposes. I give you some of the most important.

By Mr. Root, To enquire into the expediency of abolishing the tax on carriages of a less value than 100 dollars. Mr. Wright moved to amend by embracing carriages of all description, negatived. Mr. Root's original resolution agreed to by a small majority.

By Mr. Bennet, Directing an enquiry into the expediency of repealing or modifying the act laying duties on retailers of wines, spirituous liquors, and foreign mer-

Mr. Lowndes said he would not object to the inquiry if any member desired it; but following resolution, which was agreed to declared it as his opinion, that there never nem con. had been a moment when there was in. . That a committee be appointed to en-

The resolve was agreed to see the following the

By Mr. Wilde, Directing the committee of Foreign Relations to enquire what alterations are mecessary in the several acts for the government and regulation of seamen in the merchant service, and for the relief of sick and disabled seamen, or of those discharged abroad after the sale of their

By Mr. Atherton, Proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United perty lost, captured and destroyed; the States in the following words: " The congress shall have power to establish a National University." The house refused to consider the proposition, ayes 54 noes 86.

By Mr. T. M. Nelson, That a committee be appointed to enquire into the expediency of authorising a commutation for amendments proposed to the constitution money for bounty land to soldiers of the regular army. Agreed.

By Mr. Hardin, A positive resolution, that it was expedient to repeal the distille. ry tax, except so much as 'might be recessary to enforce the collection of duties already accrued. This resolve by consent of Mr. H. was laid on the table, he at the same time giving notice that he should call it up for consideration on Monday week.

Among the numerous petitions of late presented is one by Mr. Archer from Hartford county, Maryland, praying congress to prohibit for a limited time the exportation of grain from the United Stateswhich was referred to the committee of ways and means.—This is a subject of% rious import, notwithstanding the abundauce of the summer harvest, the failure of the autumnal crops, particularly of Indian corn, has been so extensive as to excite serious apprehensions for the consequence; much individual and sectional distress will certainly be produced.—The Presint is of the opinion, that the aggregate supply is more than sufficient for the aggregate wants for consumption.-I hope this may be the case; the president however mag be mistaken in his information; and if doubts remain, the principle of self-preservation ought, I think, to lead to the adoption of the measure. It is true that the high price at present of grain and bread stuffs, in the United States, is a kind of security that large quantities will not be sent off, inasmuch as .it would be difficult to find a foreign market sufficiently inviting to authorise it., Yet there are so many ships and seamen unemployed, and such is the adventurous spirit of our merchants, that voyages are often undertaken with very remote prospects of gain, and articles of the kind under consideration are rarely returned, though they should be disposed of at a loss in a foreign port.

A lengthy but rather desultory debate took-place yesterday on the consideration of one of Mr. Forsyth's resolutions, presented some time ago, relative to the commissioner of claims, which resolution went to request the President to suspend further proceedings under the act providing for the payment of property lost, captured and destroyed, until congress should further legislate upon the subject. There were many speakers and a variety of sentiments expressed, most of whom seemed to agree that the commissioner had acted improperly; some, however, doubted the power of the executive, either with or without the request of the house of representatives, to suspend the operation of an existing law. Be this as it may, the debate will certainly, I think, have the effect of dropping for the present further proceedings, as it is not probable after what has passed, that Mr. Lee will be disposed to make any further decisions, until the act undergoes explanation or revision."

Washington, Dec. 17th.

The Rev. Sereno E. Dwight, of Connecticut, k chosen Chaplain to Congress on the part of the Senate, in the place of the Rev. J. Glendy, who declined accepting the honour conferred.

Yesterday Mr. Calhoun presented the

Mr. Smith of Maryland also-moved a resolution, which was agreed to, directing the committee of ways and means to enquiresinto the expediency of repealing the act laying a duty on notes of banks, bankers, and certain companies, &c.

Mr. Vancey to-day, from the committee of claims, reported a bill supplementary to the act, providing for the payment of proobject of which was to transfer the duties of the commissioner under the original act, to the War Department.-Something like this will no doubt pass.

The House resolved into a committee of the whole on the state of the union, on the of the United States by Mr. Pickens, Mr. Smith of Maryland in the chair, when, after some time spent thereon, the committee rose, reported progress, asked and obtained leave to sit again. The speakers were Messrs. Pickens, Root, Hammond, and

Washington, December 18th. COMPENSATION LAW.

"Mr. Johnson of Kentucky, from the select corninittee on that subject, made a very long and elaborate report, which evidently cost much research and labour, in which the propriety of an increase of compensation to the members was steadily maintained, and fortified by the production of all the facts and arguments in support of it, which the in enuity of the committee were capable of arranging:-at the conclusion of which they presented a bill, repealing the present law, and providing for a per diem allowance of The title of this bill, which is somewhat singular, I do not recollect.

The bill was twice read, and referred to a committee of the whole house, and made the order for the second Monday in January next, and together with the report, or dered to be printed. Mr. Hugh Nelson moved that it be made the order for tomorrow, but the question being taken first on the latest day, was carried. A considerable debate occurred on the question as to what day it should be referred, several members spoke; among the rest Mr. Robertson observed, that the people having complained of precipitancy in the passage of the act complained of, he thought congress were bound at this time to proceed with more circumspection and delibera-

The House again spent considerable time in committee on Mr. Picken's proposition For amending the constitution. Mr. Randolph, Mr. Gaston and several other gen tlemen expressed their sentiments, when the first member of the proposition, viz. to divide the states into districts for the election of representatives, was agreed to by the constitutional majority of two-thirds, The second member of the proposition being read, Dr. Jewitt of Vermont moved an amendment, authorising the congressional districts to elect an edector of President and Vice-President each, and that the se veral legislatures in that capacity elect the two senatorial electors. This amendment it was said would prevent the confusion and inconvenience of two setts of districts in the same state, varying so little from each other. Whilst this motion was under consideration, the committee rose and obtained leave to sit again.

The project of planting a colony on the coast of Africa, for the purpose of disposing of a portion of our black population, is much talked of here, and seems to be gaining friends, A meeting of persons friendly to the measure is to be held at Davis' Hotel, on Saturday next, where it is expected several distinguished persons will be pre-

Bid them a calm adieu.

The Rev. Mr. Finley read a paper purporting to be a Memorial and Petitionato the Legislature of New-Jersey, (a copy of which will be found below) and stated many interesting circumstances, tending to show the expediency and practicability of colonizing, on the coast of Africa, or elsewhere, the " Free Blacks," in the different States, who may feel disposed to emigrate to the land of their fathers.

The following resolutions were offered and adopted:-

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to circulate and obtain signatures to the Memorial. The following gentlemen were appointed the Committee. viz:-Elisha Clark, John G. Schenck, Dr. E. Stockton, Dr. J. Van Cleve, and Robert Voorhees.

Resolved, That this meeting view with high approbation, the plan of memorializing the Legislature of this State, to use their influence with the National Legislature, to adopt some plan of colonizing the " Free Blacks."

Resolved, That the friends to the above plan are requested to meet at Trenton, on the evening of the ninth of January, 1817. at the house of Mr. Herbert.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published, and that the printers throughout the states, who are favourable to the plan, are requested to give the proceedings of this meeting and the Memorial, an insertion in their papers.

James S. GREEN, Secretary.

To the Honorable the Legislature of New Jersey.

The Memorial and Petition of the subscribers, inhabitants of New-Jersey, showeth: That they have viewed with great interest and concern the present condition. and future prospects of the free people of colour in this and our sister States. While the love of liberty, and the feeling of hismanity have produced the emancipation of a great number of these people, and are gradually effecting the freedom of the restit is with much regret that your Petitioners observe the degraded situation in which those who have been free from slavery remain; and from a variety of considerations will probably remain while they continue among the whites.

To enable to rise to that condition to which they are entitled by the laws of God and nature, it appears desirable and even necessary, to separate them from their former masters, and place them in some fa-yorable situation by themselves, perhaps in Africa, the land of their fathers. It is therefore respectfully requested of the Legislature to instruct, by Resolution or otherwise the Senators and representatives from the State of New-Jersey, to lay before the Congress at their next meeting, as a subject of consideration, the expediency of on Cane Pion near Trepassey, forming a colory on the coastor. The Harpoon a sailed from the agree now free; or may be hereafter bee, oc. 27, and had on board 38 set free, may with their own consent heremoved; And your petitioners will, as in the Ath. way bound, ever pray.

Melancholy Accident .- We are sorry to Lave to state, that the new Elizabethtown Steam Boat burst her builer yesterday mornwhile at the wharf, just as she was about to start, by which accident a child of Mr. Waite, chocolate maker, of Beston, about 7 years old, was so severely scalded that she died a few hours after, and two or three other children were so much scalded that we understand their lives are despaired of. Mr. Orr, the engineer, and Mr. Dodd, machinist of the boat, and two passengers were also injured by the boiling wafer.—N. Y. Mer. Adv.

American Invention .- Among the useful inventions daily made by our countrymen. perhaps a more useful one has not been published than one that has very recently een discovered by Mr. Edwards, of Catskill, N. Y. in the tanning of leather. By the process hitherto pursued, the usual time for tanning has been sixteen months. By the new discovery of Mr. Edwards, this is effected completely in four months without employing any new ingredients, and without any chemical preparation. But not only is there a saving in time, and labour and bark, of at least 10 per cent. on the most moderate calculation, but it is ascertained by experience, the best and only satisfactory test, that the leather thus tan-ned, gains materially in weight, in quality, is more firm and solid, and consequently will be more durable for every purpose. Mr. Edwards has obtained a patent for his invention.—N. Y. Eve. Post

We have been politely handed, by lieut. Paine, a piece of Georgia Refined Sugar. equal in consistency and taste to any imported Louf Sugar. It was grown and manufactued on the plantation of Major Wood, on the Alafordaha River. If the cultivation of this article, (now become necessary of life) continues for a few years longer, as prosperously as it has begun, Georgia will soon be enabled to supply the whole Union.

We yesterday received Newfoundland papers, and those of Halifax, to he 7th inst. They contain an account of the me-ship Comus a short time previously was wrecked. The Halpoon's salled from Quebec, Oct. 27, and had on board 525 men women and children, independent of the ship's company, consisting principally of the 4th Royal veteran battalion and detachments of several other regiments. She struck at 9 o'clock at night, and went to pieces at 11; the next morning. A few men succeeded in getting on shore in the stern boat, all the others being stove in pieces, and in the morning many more were saved by means of a rope which was carried on shore by a dog. All who at-tempted to swim, and all on the wreck at the time that it went to pieces, were drowned. Whole number lost 208—saved 177.—Bost. D. Adv.

Saving of Fuel.—Mr. Matthew Read of this lown, has invented and erected in his own house, a fire place and grate, which appear to be well calculated for saving fuel. Mr. Read states that on the 4th inst. which it will be remembered was a very cold day, all the fuel consumed was one half bushel of oak coal, and one stick of dry walnut wood 33 inches in length and 64 inches in diameter: which not only kept the room warm enough for a setting room from 7 o'clock in the morning till nine is the evening, but was amply sufficient to do the cooking for the family, of seven persous—for breakfast, beef steaks, vegetables and coffee-for dinner, boiled beef, pork and fowl, and half a peck of vegetables; for supper, slap-jacks and tea; heating water and washing dishes, and all other necessary purposes in cooking; and heating flat irons for ironing 32 pieces.

COUNSELLOR PHILIPS,

In a late speech delivered at Dublin, speak. ing of the Religion of Christ, express?s himself in the following forcible and elegant language:

"Be sent it among us to heal, not to ir tate-to associate, not to seclude - to col ieci together, like the haptismal Dove, evecree and every clime antl colour io the universe, beneath the spotles wing of its protection. This union of Church and State only converts good christians into bad states, men and political knaves into pretended Christians. It is, at least, but a foul adulterous connexion, polluting the purity of Heaven with the abominations of the earth, atid banging the profaneness of a political piety around the cross of an insulted Saviour: Nut all the splendid deism of R usseau-not all the infidel ribaldry of Voltaire, nor all the stubborn impiety of Paine, nor all the blood converting Liasphemy of Mahomet-

Aim'd at the gospel grace so vile a blow,' Or prov'd so deadly and so damn'd a foe, As he who wash'd the thorny garland's gore, Daring to glide a wreath a Saviour wore!

Religion!—holy religion, ought not, in the words of its founder, to be " led into temptation,"-the hand that holds her chalice should he pure—the priests of her temple should be spotless as the vestment of their ministry; rank only degrades—wealth only impoverishes—or naments only disguise her. Her sacred porch becomes the mare sublime from simplicity, and should be snated on an eminence maccessible to numan passions. I would have he pure, unpensioned, unstipeadary - would have her, in a word, like the bow of the firmament—her summit should be the skyher boundaries the horizon; but the only colour that adorned her should be caught from the tear of earth as it exhaled, and glowed, and glittered in the sun beams of Heaven! such is my idea. of what religion ought to be."
